Quality

Crafting quality hardware is a very labor intensive process. Beginning at the foundry, each step of construction involves the hands of a skilled craftsman. As the individual pieces get closer to their final product, the attention to detail is more and more important. When finished, this hardware will last a lifetime.

Authenticity

Our company's past, present and future has revolved around the Herreshoff Twelve. Keeping true to the authenticity of the original design is not only important in creating a product worthy of its proud tradition, but in ensuring its successful future. In our business, we strive to preserve that past and to continue its legacy.

Locally Made

We take great pride supporting other local marine businesses in New England. Nearly all of our suppliers are within 75 miles of our shop on Cape Cod.

From Hyannis, Massachusetts to Newport, Rhode Island, we push to support our neighbors and hope to help continue the long tradition of locally owned companies.

BALLENTINE'S

BOAT SHOP

Ballentine's Boat Shop was established in 1974 by Steve Ballentine. Our shop is tucked away in Cataumet, Massachusetts, a small village on Cape Cod just over the Bourne Bridge. We front not a harbor or bay, but a cranberry bog. The company has grown, at this same location, from a one-man shop with one small building to a facility with 5 large efficient buildings and a 10 to 13 person staff skilled in woodworking, yacht finishing, rigging, and bronze fabrication.

Ballentine's now fully maintains over 100 boats yearly ranging from Herreshoff 12 1/2 footers to a 58-foot ketch. Our emphasis has always been to provide quality service, maintenance and restoration of vintage wooden yachts.
